

Larger models require fewer samples to reach the same performance

